

Wednesday Sept. 7

Mom & Dad

We got our refrigerator today. First thing we did was go out and buy enough drinks to fill it up. It's a pretty good sized one (5 cubic ft).

I also took care the Hinson Hazelwood red tape. It'll be about 6-8 weeks before I can get any money - except for the building use fee refund which I can get Sept. 26. They know about the Air Force Aid Loan here and they say they're going to reduce the Hinson Hazelwood loan by about the amount of the Airforce Aid loan ($950). The Air Force Aid money is not here yet either.

Try to watch Houston v. UCLA Monday night. Mike & I will there. I'll try to jump before the camera if possible. We're going to see the Spurs here Oct. 6. Basketball games here cost more ($6, $10) than in San Antonio ($4, $6, $8). Craig's coming over here Nov. 6 and the three of us are going to see Oilers v. Chicago Bears. We tried to get concert tickets to KISS but all they had were seats on the back of the floor (there were no chairs on the floor) for $9.25 and in the back-top of the arena for $8.25 - too big a rip-off. Then we wanted to see YES but all sold out the day - they went on sell except seats behind the stage for $7.50 - blow that off!

The washers aren't fixed yet and I doubt is they ever will be. The next building has one(1) working and one(1) dryer working. The other 2 wash rooms have been converted into living space. There is a 1100 person waiting list for rooms. The rooms can only accommodate 2200 people. There are 30,000 students here.

If the credit union ~~ever~~ or Randolph Field bank ever send you any statements or cancelled checks, send me the checks and let me know what my balance is. Sports Illustrated should stop going there and start coming here. Sept. 19, I got a checking account here. I had to use my credit union money. There's no service charges as long as the balance is over $220.00. I put in $430.00 so there's no problem.

Thanks for the provisions!

Here's my schedule
