A CORRECTION.

Chas. Ingles says Lafe Dawson is not the Author of the First Confession.

By reference to the last confession of the Talbott boys, the substance of which we give to each of our readers this week in the shape of an extra, it will be seen that in speaking of Lafe Dawson, they say: "He urged us to sign the confessions that we had never seen before, promising us much, but by this we have gained nothing, and if he cannot do better than this, he had better never make another confession. I think it necessary and right that the people should know the facts in the case. I have told the truth." This statement, made by Albert and acquiesced in by Ed. Talbott, is completely refuted by a letter written by Chas. Ingles, a reputable citizen of Clinton county, who was present when the boys made their statement which appeared in their first confession. The following is the letter referred to:

Hon. Lafe Dawson, Maryville, Mo.:
DEAR SIR:—I have read the confession of the Talbott boys in the St. Joseph Gazette and it is a fair and full statement of the boys as made by them to you, in the presence of their sister and myself, on the first day of July, 1881, in the Buchanan county jail.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

Made on a Ramble Through the Northeast Part of the County.

To fully realize what is going on in this great county one must see something of it. The many letters published in every issue of the DEMOCRAT, from every part of the county, show that great changes are taking place all the time. Capital and immigration are coming in daily. Lands are being improved, crops developed and labor satisfied.

Your correspondent concluded to take a ramble through Independence township, and where we traveled five years ago on a vast prairie we found to-day laid off in 40, 80 and 100 acre tracts, all marked out with a beautiful hedge or wire fence, while on most of the farms a cozy residence dotted some

ALBERT AND ED TALBOTT.
Their Remains Buried Last Saturday on the Home Farm.

A large Assemblage Present to Witness the Interment.

The mortal remains of the unfortunate young men, Albert and Edward Talbott, were consigned to their last resting place on last Saturday, in the presence of a large assemblage of the friends and acquaintances of the Talbott family. The funeral procession left the residence of Mrs. Talbott, in Maryville, at a few minutes before 9 o'clock Saturday morning, the remains being conveyed in the two elegant hearses of Chas Lippman. They were taken past the Catholic church where Father Anselm came and sprinkled holy water over the coffins. The home place of the family, near Arkoe, was reached about ten o'clock. Owing to some misunderstanding about the digging of the grave, it was found upon arriving at the late residence of Dr. Talbott that the grave had not been prepared, which occasioned a delay in burial of more than two hours. While the graves were being dug the people remained at the house, where the boys were also kept, but were not removed from the hearses. The interment took place about one o'clock, in the family burying ground, on the farm, about half a mile almost directly west of the house. The following diagram of the family burial ground will give an idea of the location of the graves:

The enclosure is about 20 feet square.
N is North.
W is West.
S is South.
E is East.
1 is the grave of a little daughter of the doctor's who died about a year before his death.
2 is the grave of Jantha Shore, a married daughter, who died a year ago last March.
3 is the doctor's grave.
4 is the grave of Albert and Edward.

After the lowering of the coffins into the grave and the covering of them up from human view forever, Chas. C. Graham, at the request of Mrs. Talbott, expressed her thanks to the people in about the following words: "Friends, I am requested to say that Mrs. Talbott and the other members of the family desire to extend to you their sincere thanks for your kindness and assistance in the burial of her boys. God bless the boys."

Th' pall-bearers at the grave were O. S. Briggs, Henry Nelson, W. L. Gardner, J. T. Denning, A. Monroe and C. C. Graham.

Mrs. Talbott and the other members of the family returned to their Maryville residence late Saturday evening. It was a most trying ordeal for Mrs. Talbott and she was very much affected Saturday.

Guards stationed about the grave at night to prevent any interference with their remains.

Thus closes the recital of events connected with this sad case. Less than a year ago Dr. P. H. Talbott was alive and pursuing, with his wonted energy, his profession and attending to other business which devolved upon him. Suddenly he is stricken down—his life taken. What followed is known by all. And now within a few
